Now that you know what the five parts are needed to write a letter, use them to write your own letter to a friend or a family member. Remember to use all of the ingredients!

The writing area is a large yellow rectangle with a decorative border of small flowers. It contains several white boxes for labels and a postage stamp illustration:

- A large white rectangular box in the upper right corner, likely for the recipient's address.
- A smaller white rectangular box on the left side, likely for the sender's address.
- A very large white rectangular box in the center, intended for the main body of the letter.
- A white rectangular box in the bottom right corner, likely for the closing and signature.
- A postage stamp illustration in the bottom left corner, featuring a cartoon animal character and the number '21¢'.
